Central is People . . .

Central Is Tradition . . .

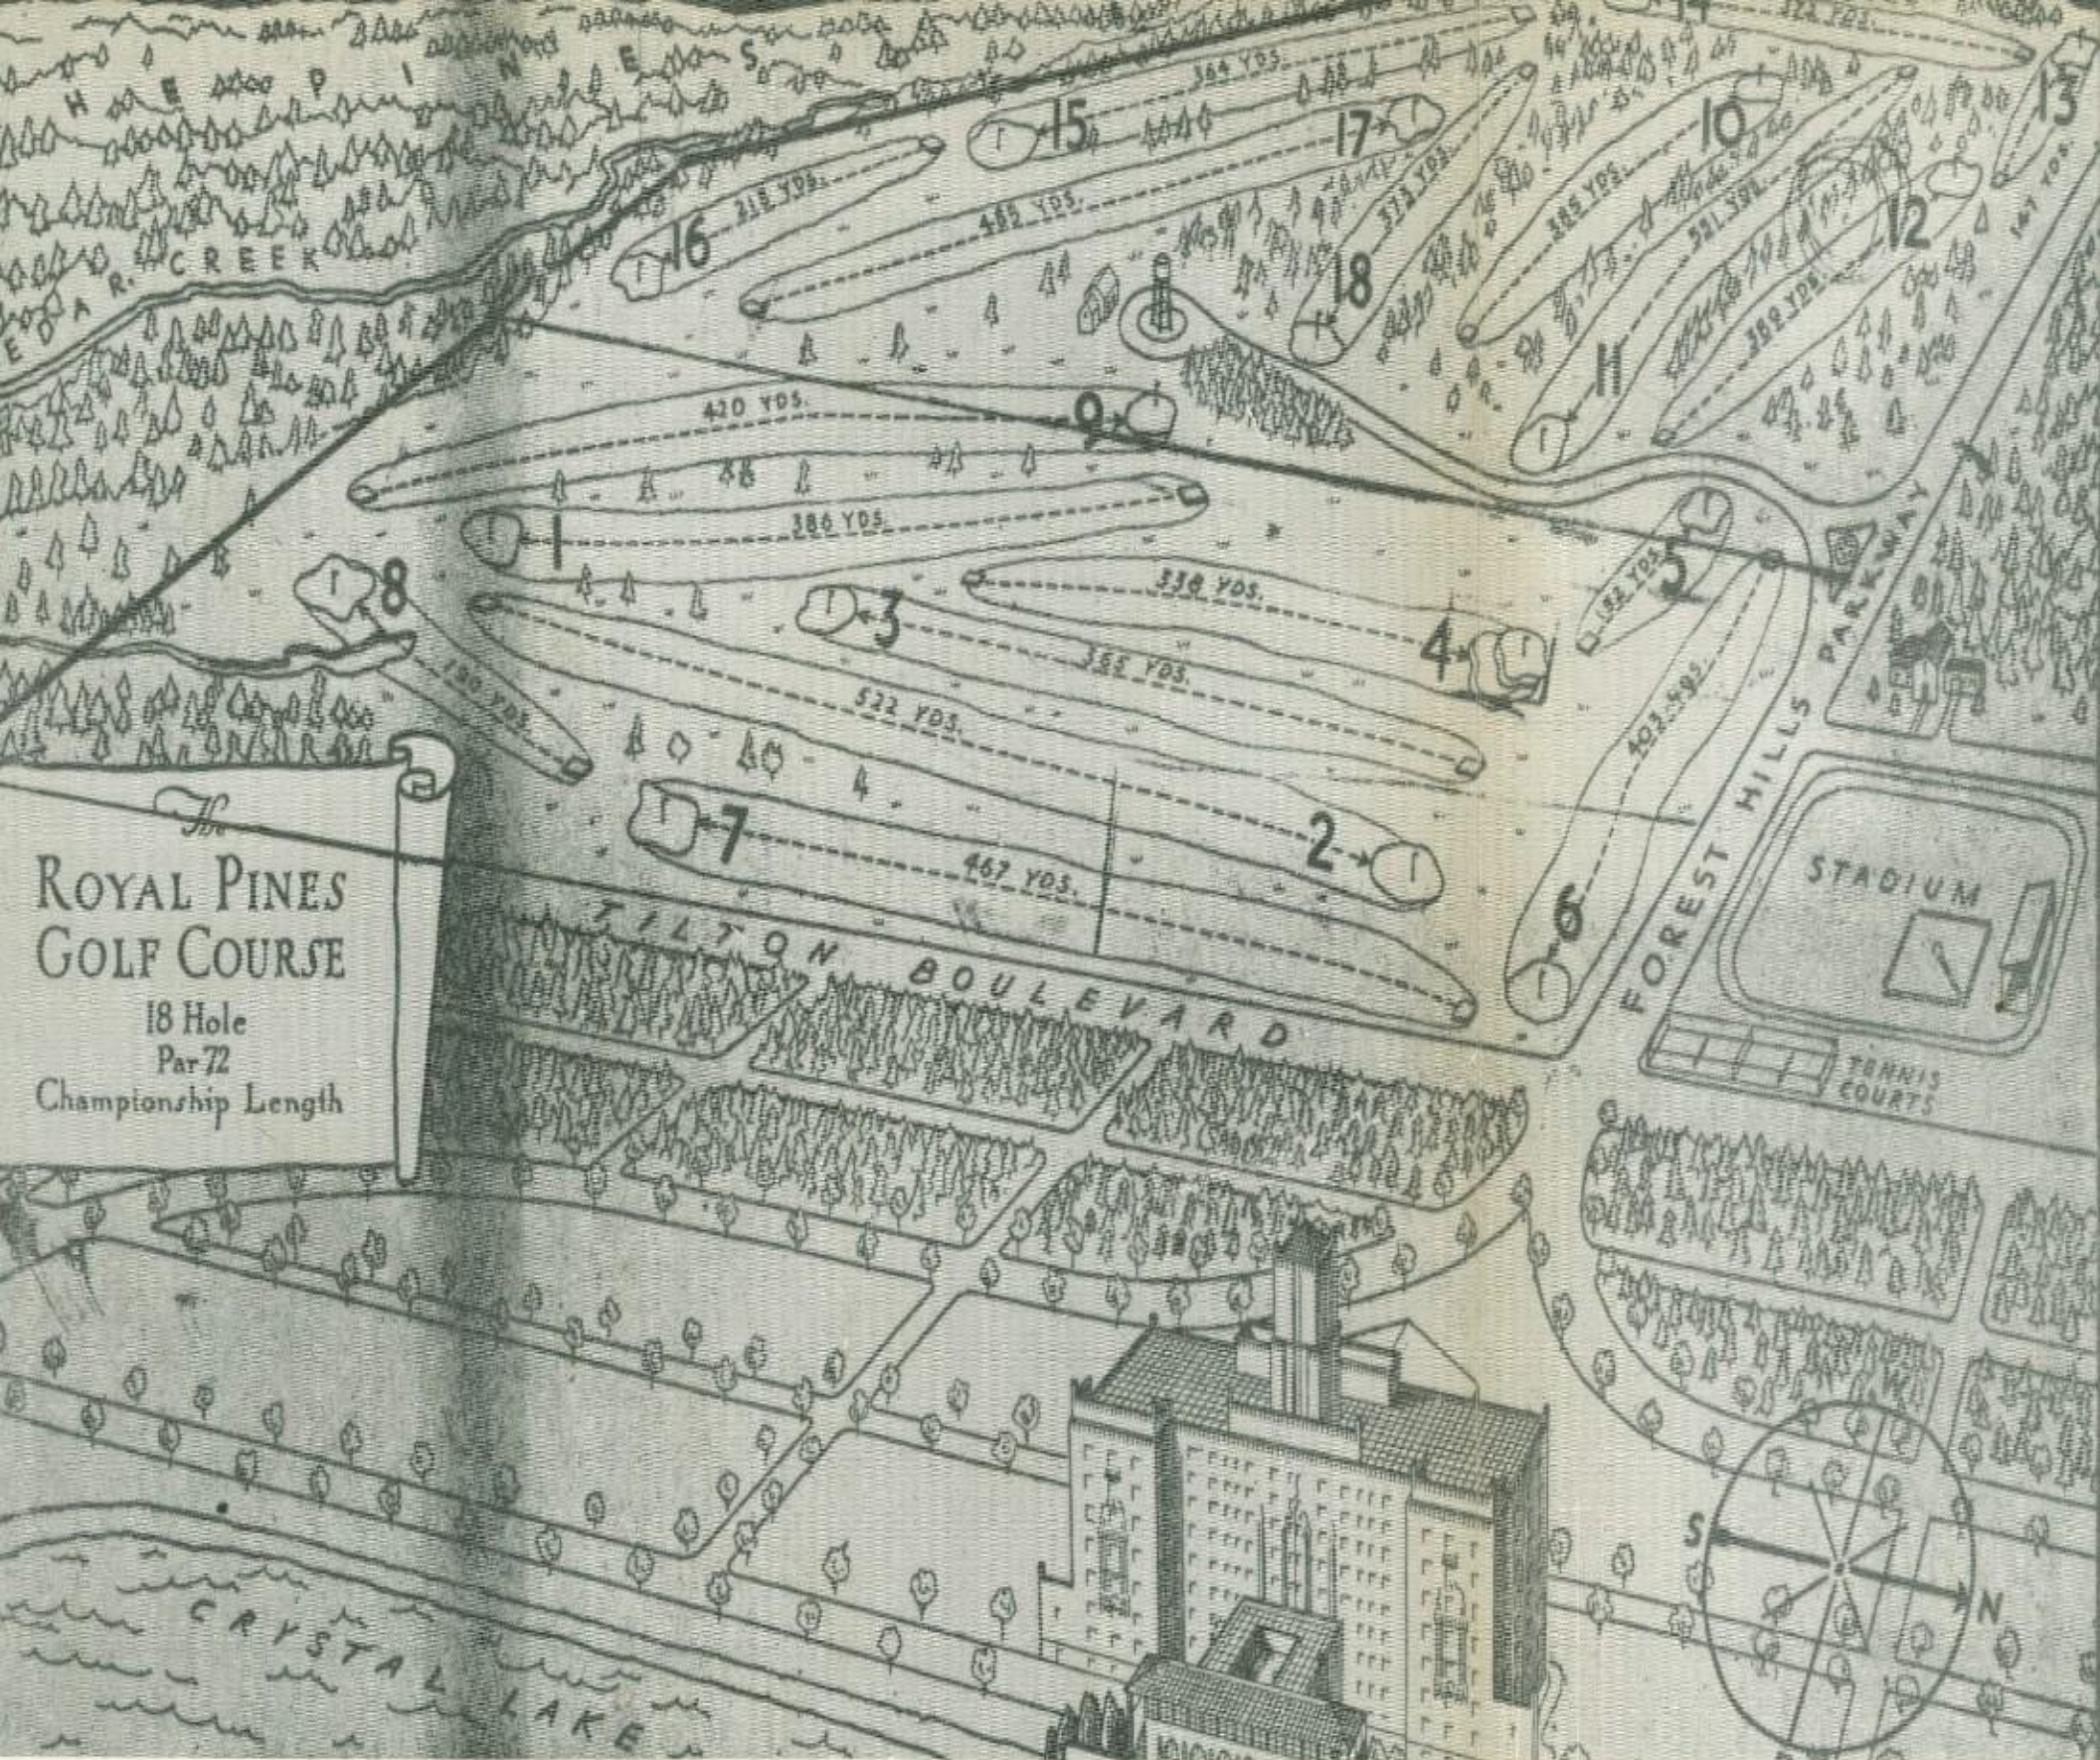

Central Is Ten Years Old . . .

Many changes have taken place at Central since the time of the original school, shown above. It began with this one building, the unlandscaped grounds, few school buses and many, many dreams.

Central Regional in 1956: note the hangars from Lakehurst Naval Air Station in the upper right corner.

It is hard to picture our auditorium as once looking like this because we now enjoy the finished product which has seen numerous assemblies, concerts, school plays, and graduations over the years . . .

This map originally appeared on an advertisement for the "Royal Pines Hotel", which is now the Pinehaven rest home.

The Royal Pines, in its heyday, was one of the major resorts of the Jersey coast. The hotel had facilities for golf, hunting, duck shooting, bay, surf and deep sea fishing, swimming, cruising, sailing, tennis, horseback riding and archery.

The golf course consisted of a lower open nine and an upper course cut through the pines. Each of the greens was irrigated and the golf course was described as "18 hole, par 72, Championship Length".

The land above the line bisecting the course was purchased from the Township of Berkeley by the Central Regional Board of Education for the sum of one dollar.

The present entrance to Central is to the right of the entrance to the golf course from Forest Hills Parkway. The school is situated in the vicinity of the eleventh green. Notice, at right center, the stadium which was our football field and the tennis courts, the remains of which can still be seen.

Central begins her expansion . . . work is started on a Junior High School which will become one of the nicest ever . . .

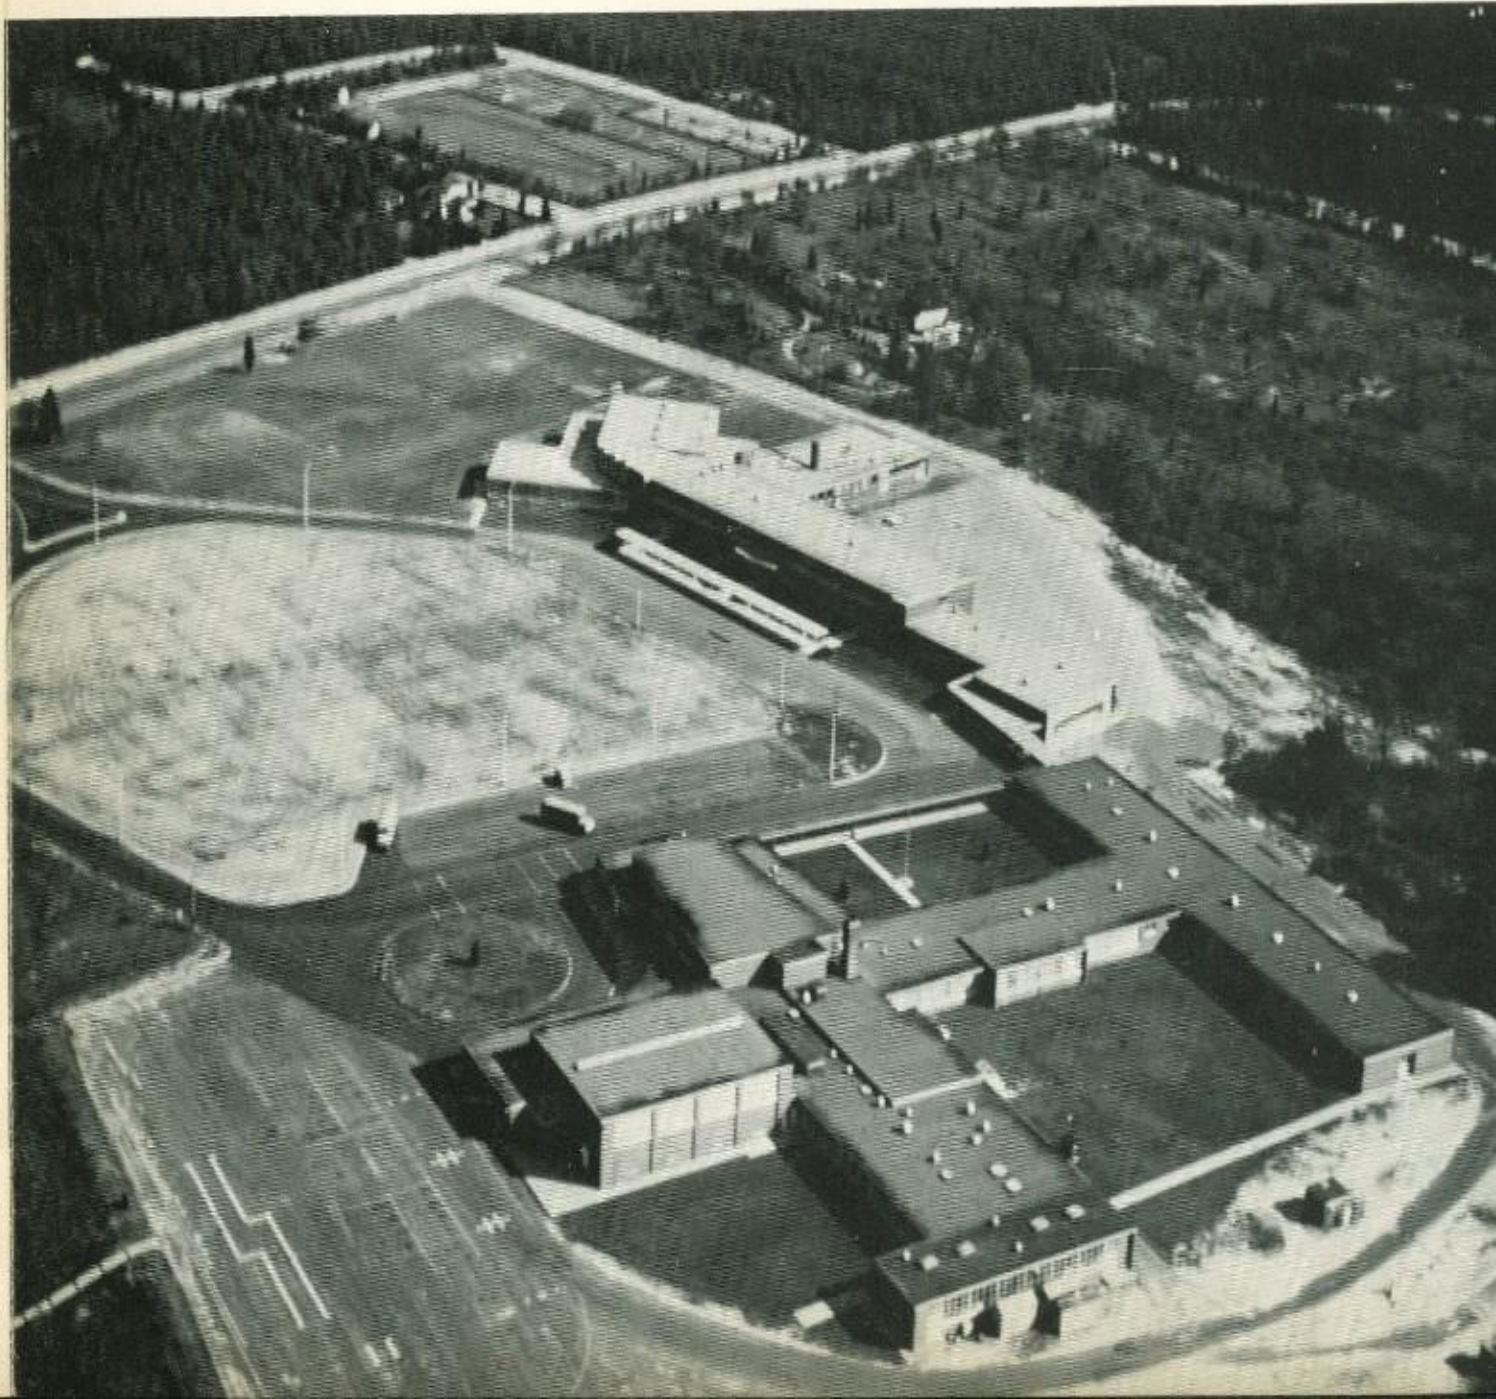

"The Board of Education of the Regional High School of Ocean County is contemplating the erection of a Junior-Senior High School Building on the old golf course at Pinewald . . ."

This resolution was passed by the Board of Education on December 13, 1954. Though other meetings had preceded this one, it is on this date that the first definite statement of the Board's intentions were set down.

The architects were Micklewright and Mountford of Trenton. They reviewed the three possible sites: Pinewald Golf Course, Route #9 near Bayville school, and Lacey Road. They found that the Pinewald Golf Course was the best of the three, submitted their reports and plans, and were instructed to proceed with complete "plans and specifications for the building of a school".

. . . and yet we still continue . . . our Junior High is completed . . . the grounds are landscaped . . . Central shows her two sides, the subtle quietness of age and the boundless energy of the new . . . she becomes a member of a society dedicated to the growth of the mind, of the body . . . Central still grows . . . the newcomer is our own football field which will be the best . . . and like Central Regional, ready to give of itself in the years to come.

FACULTY

Believers in youth and the promise it holds . . .

Guides, but more often prodders, for 1,300 students . . .

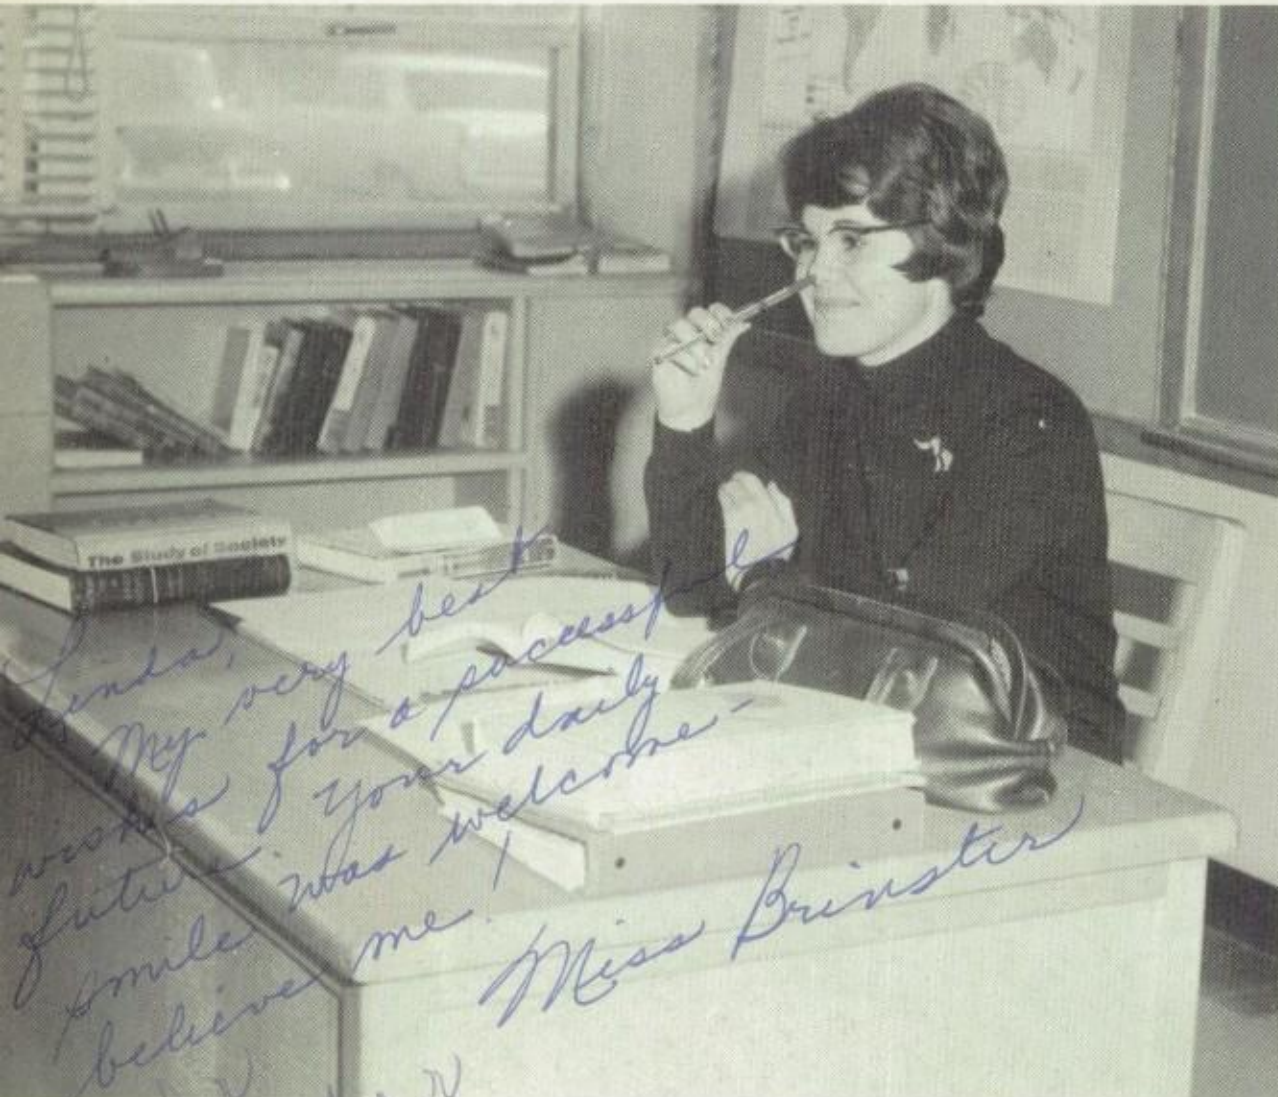

Their work is never done because their interest in their students goes beyond an 8-hour workday. Pressure from students and parents, constant changes in methods, and lack of time: under these, they labor.

Signers of absence slips, chaperones on buses, sponsors of clubs

But most of all, dispersers of knowledge . . .

This is the Faculty.

ENGLISH

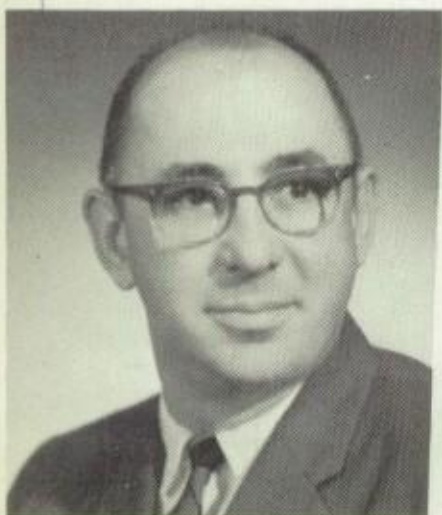

We have exercised and drilled and exercised again to learn the language we call our own. We have learned to live on paper and in speech.

We have voyaged with Ulysses and witnessed the fall of Caesar; we have hunted whales with Captain Ahab and floated down the Mississippi with Huckleberry Finn.

We've sat in the dark halls of Grendel's mother and traveled to Canterbury with Chaucer's pilgrims.

We have felt, through the poetry of Milton, Tennyson, Whitman, and Frost.

Through literature we have become aware of ourselves. We know now how much more there is to know!

Language

There is no room for the isolationist in the world of today. A trip to Europe, once a pleasure reserved for millionaires and foreign ambassadors, is now a common occurrence. And flocking to our country, for the first time, are curious tourists from around the world.

In order to keep up with the trend towards international living, a second or third language is almost a necessity.

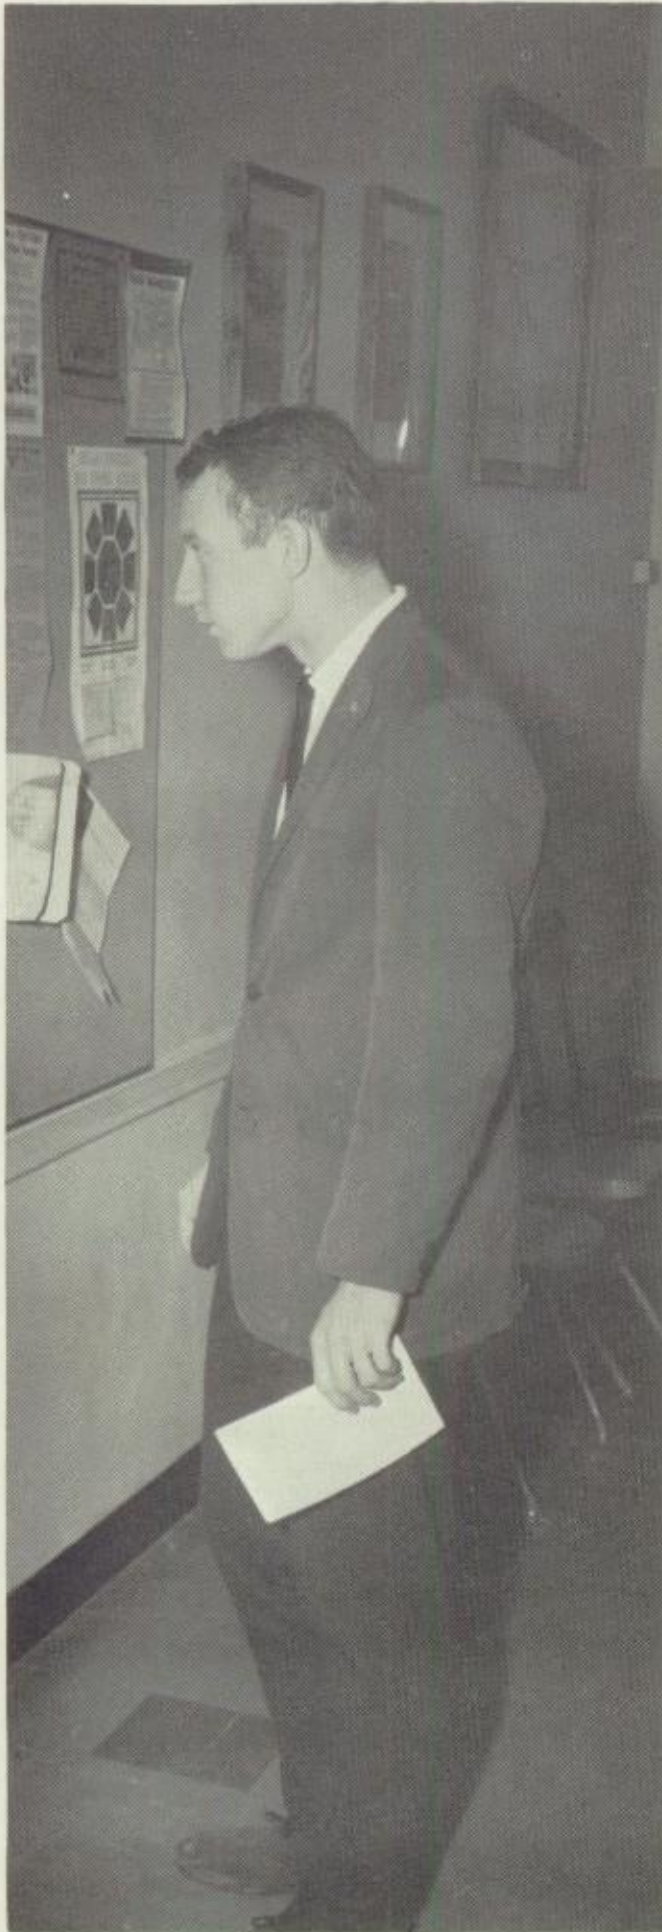

Students at Central do their best to fill this language gap by studying the languages of France and Spain.

But more than just a means of conversing with people of other lands, students find a wealth of knowledge by reading foreign classics.

It is here, through Latin, that the classical culture of ancient Rome is encountered.

Through the study of this revered tongue (which gave us five modern languages) the heritage of western man is discovered.

For these students the world may be smaller, but it is richer.

Social Studies

Between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers a civilization is born and the history of Western Man begins to unfold.

Pyramids tower majestically, Greece has a Golden Age, Rome flourishes, and through the Pax Romana Europe grows.

Atilla the Hun and Alaric the Goth plunge the world into the Dark Ages.

Italy leads the world in a Renaissance while England rules the sea.

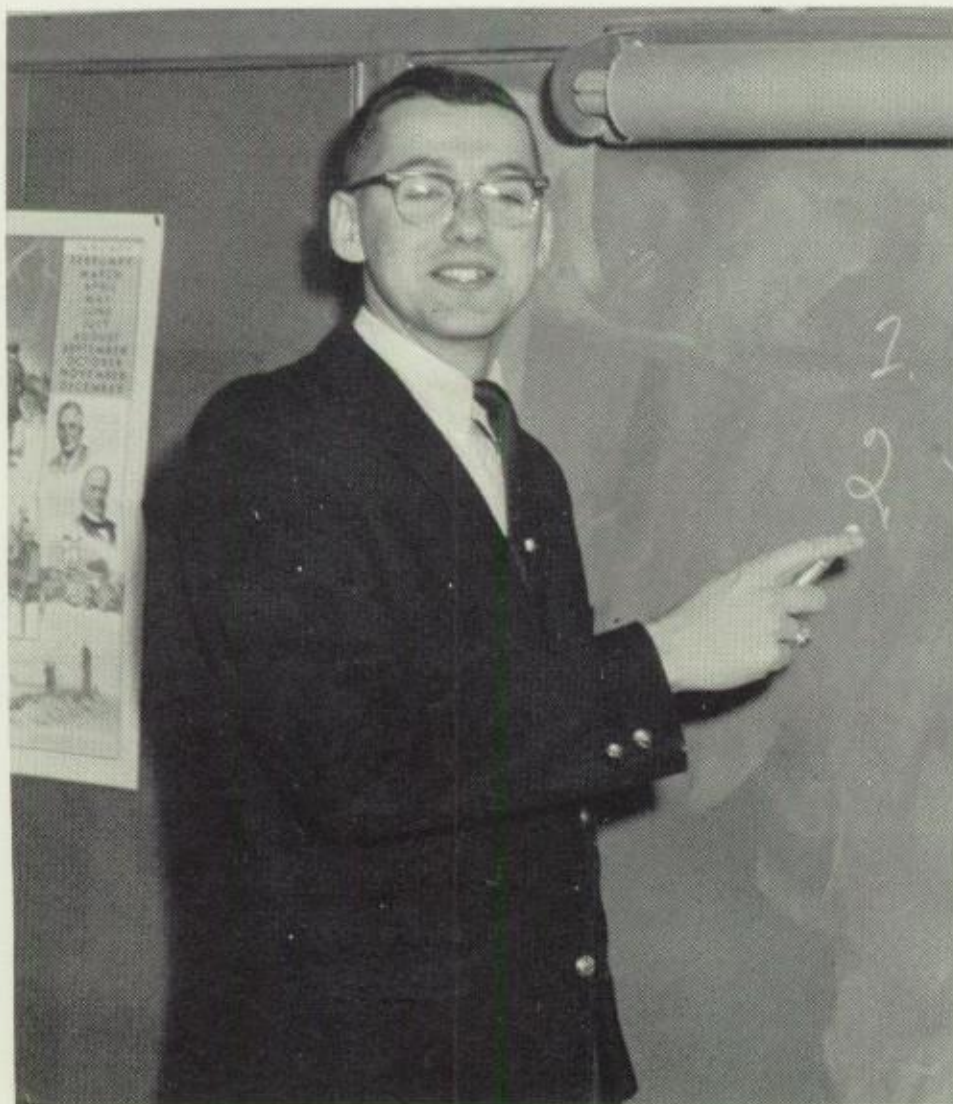

The colonists revolt; the "Great Experiment" begins. Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln . . .

Appomatox, Reconstruction; "Speak softly and carry a big stick." . . .

Wilson, F.D.R., Truman . . .

League of Nations, New Deal, Pearl Harbor, Manhattan Project . . .

From the age of stone to the age of space--from such raw stuff is molded the romance of history.

As freshmen we meet an exciting couple by the name of X and Y (Algebra I). As sophomores we break them up into co-ordinates and proportions (Geometry). Science

This department has the enormous task of presenting the scientific aspects of life, matter, and force to us.

Through Earth Science we begin understanding the earth's composition and the forces which govern its evolution.

In Biology we learn concepts of life and apply them (through such experiments as dissection), to plant and animal development.

Chemistry affords the opportunity to study the composition of materials, work with chemicals and formulas, and learn about elements which are affecting our lives more and more each year.

Finally, we are introduced to that subtle torture chamber, the physics lab, where we explore the nature and measure the effects of light, sound, motion, and heat, and touch the mysterious and challenging domain of nuclear physics.

Business

Being novices in the business world, we always have the panic button close at hand.

Each year seems to indicate a "once more with feeling" approach to understanding business theory; we cannot forget the basics of Typing I while delving into Typing II. Shorthand appears on the scene, and symbolic interpretations must be mastered along with the procedures of bookkeeping. All this leads to the practical application of our knowledge in secretarial and clerical office practice. Commercial law and consumer education fulfill our experiences, setting a platform for continued learning and for a worthwhile position in society.

Fine Arts

*Linda,
It's been my pleasure to have had you in chorus for three years. Best of luck in all you do, Ray G. H.*

Without art life would be dull! Realizing this, man is the maker of many things, and art in a broad sense means making or doing, whether it be painting a picture, writing a novel, or composing music. Because we strive to integrate beauty with our daily lives artistic works are among the things valued most highly.

Extra cultural development is offered in Central Regional High School through the fine arts program. Instruction in art and vocal music is available to those students who wish it. Central's band provides skill development and instrumental enrichment.

Underlying all this is the awareness that man's inclination to beauty is realized most fully through the arts. By refining his mind and tastes he can appreciate artistic beauty and raise his cultural level!

Home Economics

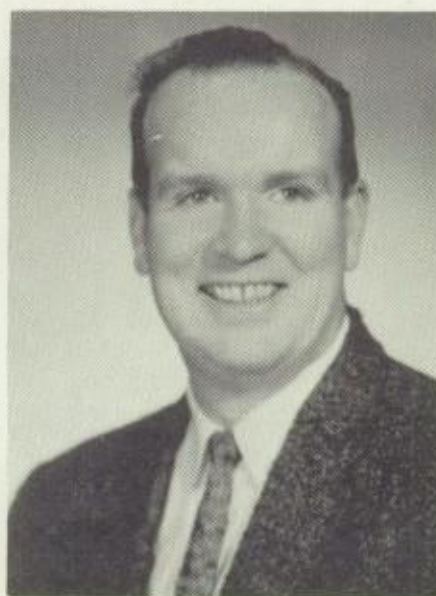

Whether college bound, vocationally inclined, or just hobby minded, the industrial and home arts offer a variety of courses in which any student will find satisfaction. A boy may learn to read blueprints or master the fundamentals of drafting; he can design his own home or build a birdhouse, he may study electricity or learn the principles of metal work.

A girl may learn to boil an egg or cook a gourmet dinner, sew aprons or create a wedding dress; how to buy wisely or manage her future home efficiently.

By combining technical knowledge, mechanical aptitude, creativity and hard work, the skill of the master craftsman, (be it chef or cabinetmaker), finally comes within reach of those who may seek it.

Fresh air + sunshine + exercise + balanced diet + sleep + correction of defects + periodical checkup = Keeping Fit.

To keep the body physically fit is as important as keeping the mind mentally stimulated. The physical education program is designed to improve physical fitness, teamwork, leadership, and sportsmanship. Varsity and intramural team sports are also available to all students.

In health and home nursing classes the stress is on the prevention of accidents and the care of common illnesses.

The cost we must pay for unskilled and careless driving is forcefully presented through Drivers Ed. Actual practice behind the wheel with a certified instructor is the final phase in the required Drivers Ed course.

Is this any way to run a car-wash?

Senior Day

A day most seniors will remember! Twelfth grade students were permitted to wear anything they chose, they could drive to school, and could leave for their lunch period early. In addition to this, the senior class sponsored a car-wash at which most of the seniors participated either by washing the cars or supervising. But no matter that they did, all twelfth grade students remember in their own way, their own day!

Our Hero Zap!

On guard!

Amahl

And The Night Visitors

Amahl tells a simple tale of a crippled boy and his mother. They live in poverty among shepherds. One night the Three Kings, on their way to Bethlehem to pay homage to the newborn Christ Child, stop for shelter at the rude hut where Amahl and his mother live. They are given hospitality and are entertained by the neighboring shepherds. The Mother envies the gold and other splendid gifts being brought to this Child the Kings don't even know. In the early dawn she steals some of the gold and is caught.

Amahl, playing his shepherd's pipe, watches in wonder as the Star of Bethlehem moves through the sky.

The hungry Kings (whose gifts to the Child rest at their feet) are presented with gifts of food by the shepherds.

King Kaspar shows Amahl some of the gifts he is taking to the Child whom the Kings seek.

Two of the shepherds (Barbara Alonzo and Cathy Buchanan) entertain the Kings with a folk dance that is at the same time a ceremony of welcome.

Amahl attacks the King's page in an attempt to free his mother who has been caught stealing the King's gold.

Amahl, having been miraculously cured of his lameness, dresses before asking the Kings to present his crutches as a gift to the Child.

When she explains to the Kings that she needs it for her starving child she is forgiven. Then they tell her about their Child and the new light He will bring into the world and the kingdom He will build. The poor widow repents and returns the gold. And Amahl, in a gesture of innocent generosity, offers his crutch--his most precious possession--as a gift to the Child. In doing so he is miraculously cured of his lameness, and he is allowed to follow the Kings to Bethlehem to give thanks to the Christ Child.

The Music Man

"... Till There Was You", Peggy Manuwald (Marion) and Pieter Sweval (Professor Hill) sing prior to the finale of Music Man.

Music Man

"The Music Man," a musical comedy concerned with life in a small Iowa city in 1912, was presented by the Fine Arts Department of Central Regional High School on March 17, 18, 19.

It is the story of a rascally but attractive salesman of musical instruments and band uniforms, shuttling about the Midwest and prevailing on small-town people to outfit school bands on the promise of teaching its members to play. He cannot read a note and invariably leaves town on a through freight after (a) collecting his money, and (b) breaking a few local hearts. In River City, however, he (a) collects his money; (b) falls truly in love with the local librarian; (c) is exposed, and (d) forgiven by townspeople and librarian alike when it becomes apparent that the city is a happier one, if poorer, for his presence.

During the 1965 season, the Golden Eagles fought hard and obtained a 5-4 record. The team was coached by Mr. Joseph Boyd. The co-captains were Alton Cowdric and Butch Cocci.

The Eagles paced off at a slow start, but as soon as it turned midseason they began to play a real game of ball.

Recuperating from a blow from Point Pleasant Boro and Point Pleasant Beach, Central gained spirit and strength. They whipped Southern Regional with a 30 to 13 victory. But the worst was yet to come. Toms River nailed the Eagles with 40 points. Maybe it was this and Red Bank's loss that put the Eagles back on their toes.

During an important play, tension mounts at the sidelines.

Alton Cowdrick shows why he is most valuable player.

The Jackson game was the start of four consecutive wins. Central ripped the Jags for 34 points. Lonnie Mattox was the big weapon carrying 3 touchdowns. Cowdrick and Robertson trailed behind each carrying one.

Central scored its second straight shutout against the Lakewood Piners as Cowdrick and Mattox slammed over yard lines for touchdowns.

The Eagles rolled up a 39-14 win over Wall as her offense totaled over 500 yards for the day. Koczynski, Tomasulo, Cowdrick, Brietenbach, and Mattox all made T.D.'s and Central's defensive line put on a show of power. The Eagles next stop was Brick on Thanksgiving for their traditional, non conference meeting.

A spirited team of Golden Eagles outplayed the Dragons both offensively and defensively. This holiday game could have gone either way right up to the final signal.

It was all Central in the first half as we made nine first downs to Brick's four. The game was a defensive struggle between the Eagles and the Dragons but Central managed to break through and Alton Cowdrick was the first point maker aided by the fine blocks of Cocci and Kehoe.

When the Dragons evened the score and successfully punted the extra point making it a 7-6 lead, the fired-up Birds stopped the onslaught and Applegate made the winning touchdown.

Cocci, Kehoe, Koczynski and Sherwood were the outstanding defense for the Eagles.

In the third full year of varsity competition, the 1965-66 team posted an 8-3 record. With Butch Cocci and Steve Lakatos as co-captains, the team was coached by Mr. Gerald Golembeski and Mr. Richard Taylor. Our matmen got off to a great start by beating Brick, Lakewood, and Southern Freehold in succession. Highlighting the season was a match with Toms River that proved to be a losing effort, but went right down to the wire.

Outstanding records were compiled by Tom Masuhr, 10-1; Walt Sherwood, 9-1-1; and Butch Cocci, 10-1. The coaches feel that the season was quite successful. They are looking forward to a conference championship next season with seven returning lettermen and a J. V. team which posted an 8-2 record.
